‘We’ve got a good thing going’

Is this longtime AL riverfront hangout the area’s best dive bar?

Shannon Heupel
Montgomery Advertiser | USA TODAY NETWORK

When longtime Capitol Oyster Bar owner Lewis Mashburn learned Yelp listed his joint among Montgomery’s top dive bars, he was a little surprised. “Well, how about that?” Mashburn said. “I didn’t know we were a dive bar, but I’m honored to be in the top.”

He and wife Karen have owned the blues restaurant and bar for 29 years, and moved it to 607 Shady St., next to the Alabama River, just over 14 years ago. In the years since, he and his family have turned Capitol Oyster Bar into a Montgomery staple that’s a whole experience you have to see in person to appreciate.

“Come by and give us a try,” Mashburn said. “You’ll love the view.”

Wednesdays, Thursdays and Fridays, they’re open at 11 a.m., and Saturdays and Sundays at noon. They’re closed Mondays and Tuesdays.

The bar’s alive with the sound of music

“I love my music,” Mashburn said.

As he spoke, soft tones of blues were wafting through the restaurant’s speakers as the lunch crowd gradually walked in. Many of the artists playing — a mix of rising and seriously seasoned national blues acts — have been in there for one of the live Sunday shows. There’s a reason Mashburn won the “Keeping the Blues Alive” award from the International Blues Foundation in 2019.

“You can see on the wall, that’s a museum,” he said of the dozens upon dozens of photos of the visiting blues artists. “It’s just not pictures. It’s people I love.” The covers are typically at 4 p.m., and there’s a $15 admission.

New Jackson Hospital leaders describe bleak financial ‘hole’

Sarah Clifton
Montgomery Advertiser | USA TODAY NETWORK

Jackson Hospital’s financial struggles have culminated in an ultimatum: Either the hospital’s millions-of-dollars funding gap gets covered somehow or else it can work toward financial recovery over the next five years, or it must present a federal bankruptcy judge with a plan to close by year’s end.

Most recently, hospital officials stated publicly that Jackson was “out of money,” which, in the words of Rick Jackson of Jackson Healthcare, wasn’t a “threat” as much as it was a statement of fact.

This prompted the City of Montgomery to go through multiple versions of proposals to back the hospital financially, as well as an extension of the hospital’s Debtor in Possession loan from a federal bankruptcy judge.

However, Jackson Hospital’s newly inducted Board of Trustees and CEO have made it clear that the hospital’s funding gap it currently faces is a “very deep hole.”

“The bankruptcy judge told us in the last meeting that he expected by the end of December to either see a restructuring plan that’s believable and sustainable, or a closure plan,” said Charles Evans, one of the new members of the hospital’s Board of Trustees.

The funding situation

Currently, the hospital is facing a funding gap of about $106 million.

Evans and John Quinlivan, the hospital’s new CEO, said that the amount of money needed for the hospital to make a comeback under a five-year financial restructuring plan amounts to $293 million, with $330 million of that total going just to infrastructure in the hospital.

Between Medicaid programs, loan guarantees, tax abatements, loans, a funding deal from Blue Cross Blue Shield, and grants from the state, county and city levels, the hospital planned to reach the $293 million goal.

Our prisons are the deadliest in the country, and a single megaprison bed costs more than the average Alabama home.

NO MORE.

NO MORE ABUSE.

NO MORE CORRUPTION.

PAID FOR BY THE CAMPAIGN FOR SAFETY AND ACCOUNTABILITY IN ALABAMA

To our fellow Alabamians:

Since 2019 when the US Department of Justice found our state prison system unconstitutional, more than 1,300 Alabamians have died there. Our prisons are the deadliest in America, with the highest rates of murder, overdose, and suicide.

State leaders responded by denying the DOJ findings and undertaking a multi-billion dollar mega-prison construction plan that is already disastrously over budget, with the governor announcing she would reallocate money from our children’s education fund to cover overruns.

We all want safety for our families and communities. But this is not what conservatives mean by being “tough on crime” and it’s not what Christians mean by “loving our neighbor as we love ourselves.” Subjecting people to violence and abuse by those charged with keeping them safe does not prepare them to rejoin society when they leave prison (as over 90% will).

While our prisons have long been shrouded in secrecy, a new documentary called The Alabama Solution exposes horrific abuse, corruption, and cover-ups by the state, and serves as a warning for the entire nation.

By the Numbers

- Since the DOJ report, over 1,300 people have died in Alabama prisons and annual deaths have doubled.
- Drug deaths increased ten-fold with prisoners overdosing thirteen times more than the statewide average. Most drugs are brought in by officers.
- Suicides more than doubled despite court rulings over mental healthcare.
- Fewer than 20% of eligible prisoners were granted parole, with rates dropping as low as 8%.
- Homicides are seven times higher than a decade ago.
- The Department of Corrections already consumes 25% of Alabama’s general fund — more than taxpayers spend on public and mental health services combined.
- Each new mega-prison bed costs over $300K, far more than the average family home.
- More than $450M per year is extracted in forced prison labor — while basic rehabilitation programs collapse.
- The State spends over $50M annually to fight or settle lawsuits and defend abusive officers. Some of the most violent officers have been promoted.
- Prison officials misclassify deaths, manipulate data, and retaliate against whistleblowers.

We Stand Together to Say NO MORE.

- No more secrecy. Establish an independent oversight body to accurately report death and other data and to ensure investigations are not controlled by the people being investigated.
- No more silencing. Protect whistleblowers like Robert Earl Council and Melvin Ray who appear in the documentary to expose the truth.
- No more waste. The budget for just one of Alabama’s 3 new megaprisons has risen to more than $1B. Instead of prison expansion, improve public safety by redirecting resources to treatment, education, and reentry.
- No more disproportionate sentences and broken promises. The parole board has not followed its own guidelines for years leaving thousands languishing in already overcrowded prisons even when they present little risk to public safety. Restore fairness to our parole system.
- No more abuse by guards. Every violent officer who is not terminated is a threat to safety, a stain on our justice system, and a liability to taxpayers.
- No more forced labor. Incarcerated workers produce more than $450M annually in goods and unpaid services for the State. Yet prisoners deemed safe enough to work at the Governor’s Mansion or be leased out to businesses across Alabama are often granted parole at hopelessly low rates.

We call on Alabama’s elected officials and our Department of Corrections to increase transparency and accountability and to ensure constitutional protections for incarcerated Alabamians. And we call on people everywhere to recognize that corrupt prisons consuming our budgets, destroying our families, and killing people with impunity are not making us safer.
